

Analog Alliance

Microwave, Millimeterwave and Applied Electromagnetics

Example outcomes gained by taking this track would include joining groups that design and maintain the following types of chips, sub-systems and systems: wireless communications and networking, radars, and Electronic Warfare systems. Local employers looking for skills in this area would include Analog Devices, RF M D, Sony-Ericsson, and Harris Corporation. Employers outside of NC that recruit at NCSU include Northrop Grumman, and a number of Government Labs. Courses central to obtaining this outcome are the following:

- ECE 549 RF Design For Wireless
- ECE 540 Electromagnetics
- ECE 511 Analog Electronics
- ECE 719 Microwave Circuit Design
- ECE 712 Integrated Circuit Design for Wireless Communications

Additional courses you should consider include the following:

- ECE 513 Digital Signal Processing
- ECE 514 Random Processes
- ECE 544 Design of Electronic Packaging and Interconnects (Application area)
- ECE 582 Wireless Communications Systems
- ECE 515 Digital Communications
- ECE 557 Principles of MOS Transistors
- MA 501 Advanced Mathematics for Engineers and Scientists I
- MA 502 Advanced Mathematics for Engineers and Scientists II

Sample M S Plan of Work

These plans of work are suggestions only. Feel free to seek other advice or to structure your own curricula. Please note that the actual courses taught are constantly changing, and these might be out of date. These are written assuming you are a full time student taking 10 courses over three semesters. You might choose to not overload in Spring, but take one last course in Spring after this.
